Comprehension:

Some people use the terms 'comic book' and 'graphic novel' interchangeably, but critics and scholars are in general agreement that the two text types are not the same. A comic book tends to be part of a longer series and is usually structured sequentially around a simple storyline. A graphic novel usually involves a more complex plot structure, often divided into chapters, with deeper themes. Graphic novels include many of the same elements you would find in a traditional novel: characterization, foreshadowing, symbolism, allusions and so on; it's just that a graphic novel takes you on a visual journey through the story rather than leaving everything to your imagination.

यहाँ 'इसे कैसे करते हैं' का सिद्धांत था जो सीधा एवं सरल प्रतीत होता था। निश्चित ही इसके मूल घटकों को समझना आसान था। तो यह सिद्धांत क्या था, समाज कार्य का यह दृष्टिकोण, पेशेवरों के साथ काफी पसंद किया गया। हमें सीखा था की, संकट के समय, लोग बदलाव के लिए प्रेरित होते हैं। समयांत (डेडलाइन) मदद करती है। आमतौर पर लोगों के पास चीजों को ठीक करने के अपने मत होते हैं किन्तु उनमें उनका अनुसरण करें के विश्वास की कमी होती है। कार्य-केन्द्रित काम की समस्याओं का समाधान निकालने की प्रकृति, उपयोगकर्ताओं को यह पहचान करने में मदद करती है कि उनमें अपनी स्थिति की लिए कुछ कर सकने की क्षमता है।

"... Task-centred Casework first published in 1972, was a landmark text and made a significant impact. For the field social worker struggling to understand the fascinating but often difficult world of psychodynamic theory, the directness of task-centred work was a delight. Here was a 'How-to-do-it' theory that seemed straight forward and simple. Certainly the basic ingredients were easy to understand . So what was this theory, this approach to social work that went down so well with practitioners? We had learned ... that, when in crisis people are motivated to change. Deadlines help and people generally have ideas of their own about what might sort things out, but they lack the confidence or structure to follow them through. The Problem - solving nature of task - centred work helps users to recognize that they have the ability to do something about their situation."

डार्लिंगटन और स्कॉट (2002), ने शोध प्रक्रिया में प्रेक्षण पर अपनी चर्चा में, यह देखा कि प्रेक्षण घटनाओं के घटित होने पर उस तक पहुँचने का अवसर प्रदान करती है। और इसलिए, भाग लेने वालों से कुछ अतिरिक्त प्रयास की अपेक्षा होती है। जो देखा या अवलोकित किया जा सकता है उसकी भी सीमाएं होती हैं। प्रेक्षण यह प्रकट नहीं करता कि लोग क्या विचार अथवा महसूस कर रहे हैं। और यदि हमें ज्ञात होता है कि हमें देखा जा रहा है, आत्म-चेतना हस्तक्षेप कर सकती है तथा हमारे बर्ताव करने के तरीके पर प्रभाव डालती है।

प्रेक्षक जो देखता है और अभिलेखित करता है, उस पर उसके अपने परिप्रेक्ष्य का प्रभाव होगा। जो कि उस समय में महत्वपूर्ण है। किन्तु इन सीमाओं के बावजूद, प्रेक्षण उन व्यक्तियों के साथ काम करते समय एक महत्वपूर्ण साधन हो सकता है, जिनके पास किसी भी कारण से सीमित भाषायी कौशल है।

"Darlington and Scott (2002), in their discussion of observation in research practice, note that observations offer an opportunity to access events as they occur and, therefore require little extra effort from those who are participating. There are limitations to what is observable; observation does not tell us what people are thinking or feeling, and if we know we are being observed, self consciousness can intervene and affect the way we behave. What the observer sees and records will be affected by their own perceptions of what is significant at that time. But despite these limitations, observation can be an important tool when working with individuals, who for what ever reasons, have limited verbal skills."
